“Running can help you loose weight. Running can build muscle tone. Running can improve your complexion. Running can strengthen your heart and make it work more efficiently. Running can increase your aerobic capacity and lower your blood pressure. Running can relax you, help you quit smoking, and reduce the risk of heart disease. Running can reduce depression and lift your spirits. Running can help you think and make you more creative. Running can make you more athletic and energetic and full of vitality. Running can improve your self-image and make you more self-confident. In short, running can change your entire outlook on life and make a new person of you.”

RUNNING STREAK LEGEND AND POLIO SURVIVOR
DR. JON SIMPSON PASSES AT 83
By: Mark Washburne

It is with sadness that Streak Runners International (SRI) and the United States Running Streak Association (USRSA) recently learned of the passing of Dr. Jon Simpson, of Memphis, Tennessee, on 28 July 2021. Started on 30 August 1971, Dr. Simpson's running streak lasted 15,991 days (43 years, 285 days) and was listed by SRI/USRSA as the fifth longest active running streak in the world when it ended on 10 June 2015 and now, in 2021, is listed as the 5th longest retired streak in the world. SRI/USRSA extend our condolences to Jon's widow Caroline and the entire Simpson Family.

In tribute to Dr. Simpson's many running accomplishments, here are some of the articles about him that we have posted in The Streak Registry (TSR) over the years.

SURVIVING POLIO TO BECOME A LEGEND
By: Jon Simpson

At the end of August, I will join five others in The Legend (40+ years) classification. I am honored to be included with this group; but let me be quick to say, "I'm not even on the same page with these great runners."

I had polio at age sixteen, and have spent the rest of my life seeking ways to strengthen my weak right leg. About half my high school days I spent on crutches. If I hadn't started running, I probably wouldn't be walking today.

I have been running regularly for over 50 years, but on August 30th, 1971, I resolved that if I could run 5 or 6 days a week, perhaps I could go a whole year without missing. That year called for another and another, and soon I was "off and running" to accumulate a long streak.

I joined the USRSA about five years ago and I appreciate so much the official records provided for our members. Someday I hope to meet Mark Covert, Jon Sutherland, Jim Pearson, Ken Young and Stephen DeBoer. These, and many more in the other categories are the real runners of which our association can be proud.

As for me, I have never even run a 5K! It is nice that in the USRSA tent there is room for me. At age 73, and being basically crippled in my youth, it is hard to imagine accomplishing any athletic achievement.

As a dentist, working regular hours, I have been able to plan my schedule so that my running would be consistent. If I had a board meeting or a Bible study at 6:00 A.M., I would simply go to bed early so I could wake up at 3:00 A.M. and run. Through the years I have run in over 40 states and more than a dozen foreign countries. In August 2008, I retired from my dental practice.

Have I had any near misses? No. I had food poisoning many years ago, but that didn't keep me down but a few hours. Other than that, I have not been sick or injured. When bone spurs threatened my feet, my doctor resolved this with metatarsal arch supports.

My morning schedule calls for a half dozen "gut buster" floor exercises before I run (usually about 5:30 A.M.). My daily run is about 33 minutes in a flat, grassy well-manicured field next to my home. When I am on vacation in other cities, I appreciate my flat field – especially in places like Seattle and Atlanta.

I want to include a final note of deep appreciation for our wonderful quarterly newsletter. I spend hours reading each article and reviewing the membership notes from the various areas of our country. It is encouraging to read about others with a kindred spirit for running every day.

My heartfelt thanks to John and Dawn Strumsky who edited, printed and mailed the newsletter for so many years. May God bless all of you.

DR. JON SIMPSON'S RUNNING STREAK ENDS AFTER 43+ YEARS; HAD 5TH LONGEST ACTIVE RUNNING STREAK IN THE WORLD

By: Mark Washburne

Dr. Jon Simpson, 77, a retired dentist from Memphis, Tennessee, has ended his four decades long running streak. "On June 10, 2015, my 43-year running streak ended," said Dr. Simpson in an August 7, 2015, letter to Streak Runners International (SRI) and the United States Running Streak Association (USRSA). "I had polio at age 16 and have spent the rest of my life seeking ways to strengthen my weak right leg. About half of my high school days I spent on crutches. If I hadn't started running, I would be in a wheelchair by now. In 1971, after running regularly for many years, I resolved to go the rest of the year without missing. That year called for another and another, and soon I was 'off and running' to accumulate a long streak. But, alas, at the end of my run on June 10, 2015, my weak leg buckled on me, and I careened off the pavement into the roadside gravel. At that time I didn't realize I had injured my eye [detached retina]. The next day the Retina Institute advised immediate surgery. 'It would be weeks before I could even consider running,' they told me."

Dr. Jon Simpson remains active after his eye injury. "I have . . . maintained my 'personal streak' by continuing to 'walk' the same route," continued Dr. Simpson in his letter to SRI/USRSA. "At age 77 after being basically crippled in my youth, it has been encouraging to have accomplished an athletic achievement."

Started on August 30, 1971, Dr. Simpson's running streak lasted 15,991 days (43 years, 285 days) and was listed by SRI/USRSA as the fifth longest active running streak in the world when it ended. Only the active running streaks of 1. Ron Hill (Hyde, England; December 21, 1964), 2. Jon Sutherland (West Hills, California; May 26, 1969), 3. Jim Pearson (Maryville, Washington; February 16, 1970), and 4. Stephen DeBoer (Rochester, Minnesota; June 7, 1971) were longer than Dr. Simpson. The retired Memphis dentist now has the second longest retired running streak in the world after Mark Covert (Lancaster, California; July 23, 1968 - July 23, 2013; 16,437 days).

STREAK RUNNER VICKI LEAFGREN PASSES AT 62;
HAD 5TH LONGEST ACTIVE FEMALE STREAK IN WORLD
By: Mark Washburne

Victoria “Vicki” Leafgren, 62, of Woodbury, Minnesota, United States, died unexpectedly on 22 October 2021. Vicki ran earlier in the day and died that evening from a tear in her aortic artery while at home. “Vicki was an avid runner, logging over 93,000 miles through several decades,” noted her obituary. “She had many other interests and friendships and was always quick with a smile and willingness to help anyone in need.” Her streak, that started on 10 February, 1991, lasted 11,213 Days (30.7 years). Before her untimely passing, Vicki had the 5th longest active female streak in the world and now has the 3rd longest retired female streak in the world.

Vicki only recently registered her streak with us in March but we did receive a profile from her that we published in the Summer 2021 TSR and republish below. We extend our condolence to her mother, Mary, her sisters, Diane and Janis, and the rest of her family and friends. TSR 82 – Summer 2021

Vicki Leafgren

VICKI LEAFGREN JOINS USRSA; STREAK STARTED IN 1991

The start of my running streak has a less than thrilling origin, but it has made for many conversations, comments and cracks over the years. Before it started, there would be an occasional day that I would miss my run due to an ache, event or weather challenge. But once I was approaching my first-year streak anniversary, none of those excuses worked any longer.

On February 9th, 1991, my ex-husband and I were leaving our vacation on Sanibel Island early in the morning with my sister-in-law, brother-in-law and their toddler and landed in Chicago to catch our connection to Minneapolis/St. Paul. Fog came in and we spent the next 12 hours waiting for our flight to be cleared for take-off. Since I had missed a few days in December for a foot injury, missing my run that day wasn't earth shattering. So, on Sunday, February 10th, I went for my run and it has been that way for the past 30 years.

One of the great opportunities of the past 30+ years were that I have done a considerable amount of travel for work or on personal vacations. I've been to all but 2 states in the U.S. (Alaska and Rhode Island) and traveled to many countries in Europe, and to Canada, Mexico and China (Hong Kong) and Taiwan. My travels have given me the chance to run and see sights that I may have missed if I didn't run. One of my trips to Hong Kong landed well into the evening and I quickly changed and went for a run along Victoria Harbor at about 10:30 PM. The young people likely thought I was not in my right mind as I dodged hand holding couples on their Saturday evening date. My co-workers, family and friends on these trips knew that I required enough time to get in my 4-mile minimum and they all complied. Even my vendors would accommodate my antics and never schedule early morning breakfast meetings. They all had a part in helping maintain my streak.

Over the years, I've had my share of injuries that have caused me to slow down and trim back my mileage, but luckily, I've still been able to get in my personal minimum of 4 miles for all but 113 days in my 30 years. On those days, my lowest was 1.2 miles, but most were over 2 miles. I had even completed a 5-mile run after a fall on ice that I later found out had broken my wrist all the way through. Other days mileage was reduced due to -20 below temps with 20 MPH winds, 15-20" of fresh snow or coatings of ice so thick that even my ice cleats could barely keep me upright.

When I mentioned "cracks" I mean that in two ways. As cars drive past, there have been occasional comments, but one of the funniest came from a pickup with a teenage couple shouting "Run Forrest Run!" After I waved at them, it became a ritual for them to shout and laugh whenever we passed each other. I wonder if they're still together! My other reference to "cracks" is of course multiple times of being mooned. For all of these "cracks" I look back and laugh at the humor. I have had a few vulgarities shouted at me, but no significant trouble over all these years.

I have also found numerous valuable items, including a wedding ring and several wallets, checkbooks, credit cards, driver license and cash. I attempted to return all but the cash and was pretty successful. On credit cards, I would call the company and they would cancel the card just to make sure the owner wasn't worried that someone was going crazy at the local Target.

BTW, Target was my employer over the all of these years, until I retired in 2019. For the last 15 years at Target, they built locker rooms for runners and bikers to consolidate their workout into their day. It was great to run over lunch or after work, which helped me avoid rush hour traffic.

As for races, in the early years, I would run 15-20 races a year, but now am down to just a few. Maintaining my streak is now the priority as many of my old running pals are not racing any longer and it's just easier to get out and get my run done each day.

Lastly, I have met so many people running locally and around the world which includes indoors when I ran Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Metrodome in Minneapolis. Thanks to Rick Recker for making that opportunity available since 1982!

I really don't have many pictures other than race proofs. These are from the finish at Grandma's and TCM 1982. Most of the others are in a pack of people.

JOHN FAZ HAS RUN INTERNATIONALLY DURING HIS 30+ YEARS STREAK

I began my running streak while stationed at Lemoore Naval Air Station in December of 1990. Transferring from there to Naval Air Station Memphis, Millington, TN I immediately searched out local running clubs and quickly found company with the Memphis Track Club. Attending my first meeting with the club, I was informed that Memphis had a very active Hash House Harrier's club, called kennels. This fit perfectly with my daily running.

I was next transferred to Marine Corps Air Station Iwakuni, Japan for the next three years. I usually did my runs over the lunch hour at work which was fully supported by the Marine Administration. Every Friday I would guide Marines and occasionally a local Japanese runner employed at the base. On other days I would venture into the nearby hills and scout the numerous trails nearby. There happened to be a local chapter of the Hash that was "family" oriented which didn't fit with a young Marine lifestyle. So, they formed their own version and called themselves the Iwakuni Black Sheep. I ran with this group until we got in a bit of a bind with those in charge. So, I moved the local Hash to Hiroshima. During my stay in Iwakuni, I was sent to Okinawa for a two-week training stint. There I met up with the local Hash and ran a couple of times with them.

Leaving Japan, I was next stationed MARINE CORPS Air Station Miramar, San Diego. Not only does San Diego have the bragging rights to excellent year round weather and miles of off road trails, it also hosted 12-14 Hash Kennels. The Friday night group would occasionally number near 100 participants. It was possible to run with one of these groups every day of the week except Thursday's for some reason. A couple of times a year the kennels would fill in a Thursday to make it possible to run with the Hash for 7 days straight, often billed as the "get a life" Hash.

Nearing the end of my career, I was asked to join a contingent of Marines traveling to Madrid, Spain for official military meetings. I contacted the local Hash kennel only to find out they were not scheduled to run that week but they did invite me to join them for a “hash social” which is a gathering without the running. I was provided with an address which took me to a local favorite pub where I met up with local runners and hashers.

To keep my running streak intact, I took a public transport to King San Juan’s Castle. Very touristy and very large complex in the middle of Madrid. Arriving, I changed into my running gear and stashed my civilian clothes in my back pack and started sightseeing running around the castle grounds. That didn’t last long as the local armed guards soon noticed me and stopped me from running further. I pretended not to speak the language even though I am fluent in Spanish. I was escorted off castle grounds so I completed my daily 3 miles on surface streets.

I retired from the Marines and moved to Lincoln, NE. where I still run daily. In 2004 my wife and I traveled to Ireland on vacation for just over a week. There was no shortage of trails as our first stop was near KirPatrick, near Mt. Patrick where St. Patrick used as his place to pray, (so we were told). Besides running around County Donagal we ended up in Dublin the day before departing. After contacting local Embassy Marines, buying their souvenir t-shirts we met up with the local Hash which was hosting a weekly run. We had a good run ending up in a local restaurant which finished up with a few adult beverages.

We returned to our home in Lincoln believing we were done with our international travels. That was until I was made aware of an opportunity to re-activate my military status back to full active duty. There was a need for a Marine Gunnery Sergeant on GTMO, Cuba. I volunteered and was accepted to join the recently created Pentagon mission “Office for the Administrative Review of the Detention of Enemy Combatants” (OARDEC). Essentially, a Court Martial under a different name. My research revealed not only an ideal running environment but also a local Hash Kennel named “The Least Worst Hash” that ran weekly. I was stationed at GTMO from November 2004 until November of 2005. Along with having a flat coastline it also has John Paul Jones Hill with a 492’ elevation gain accessible on a paved roadway. Ideal for marathon training which I did to prepare for my 2005 Marine Corps Marathon.

My wife, Pam, was initially totally opposed to my returning to active duty. After 3 months of silence, she re-established communications. She was able to travel to GTMO and join me for my last 10 days on Island. We left GTMO and traveled back to Quantico, VA and Washington D.C. to out process and compete in the Marine Corps Marathon.

I wish to take this opportunity to officially declare that my self-imposed “3 miles every day outside” has ended. After over 11K+ days in a row I began struggling with an old knee injury. That and the fact that my current wife Michelle and I attended the annual Republic of Texas motorcycle rally in Austin, TX. Michelle got up in the middle of the night, without glasses and total dark, she fell and broke two ribs. The next day we planned on our daily run (yes, she streak runs as well), she couldn’t run past the pain level after 1.25 miles. So, I stopped with her because I know that if I would have continued to three miles she would have done so as well. She reported a pain level of 8. The three-mile limit was set as that is the twice annual Marine Corps Physical Fitness Test. after having to settle for a 1.25 minimum “streak saver” distance I now run 1.5- 2.0 miles per day, every day and still outside and winter is coming.

I encourage those of you that travel internationally to look up the local Hash Kennels and join a safe, local run with locals. There is a Hash in every major city of America and most Countries of the world. Yes, there is a report via the internet that there is an active hash running kennel on the Antarctic. I don’t think they have any current running streakers there.

KRISTIAN ODEBJER LAUNCHES RUNNING STREAK APPLICATION

By: Kristian Odebjerg

In September of 2021 I launched an app called myRunstreak. The app helps runners track and share their streaks. I thought I would share a bit about my background leading up to this venture into the world of fitness technology.

I first went "jogging" with my mother as a kid in Sweden in the late 70's and early 80's. When I was in school I did track, although not very successfully. In high school, I started running longer distances on my own and ended up completing two marathons in my senior year. Since then, I have pretty much considered myself an "all purpose" runner – 5K's and ultras, trail runs and street races, you name it, I've run it.

It therefore came as a bit of a shock when my doctor told me three years ago that I needed to slow down a bit due to a heart condition. No more marathons, and none of the full-throttle trail runs that I loved so much. For the first time in my life, I struggled to find the motivation to go out for a run.

Although I have lived in Hong Kong for about 20 years, I stay in touch with friends and family in Sweden. Somebody mentioned the run streak phenomenon that was taking off in my home country and I thought I'd give it a try. My streak started on July 9, 2019, and I now run between one and six miles early in the mornings. Initially, I was running barefoot, but I have now switched to a pair of very thin Xero sandals. With the new format, I rediscovered my motivation for running and the streak took off!

In my opinion, the beauty of the run streak lies in its simplicity. Almost anyone can run a mile, but in order to maintain a streak over time, you need some serious mental strength. The streak has forced me to create routines that make me more efficient in how I go about life. With the streak, I see how small daily installment can build up to something big over time. I have started applying a “run streak attitude” to other interests and activities. One outcome of all this is that I have re-enrolled in university part time to pursue a degree in Chinese!

My one source of frustration in connection with the run streak was how to keep count. Our calendar system is simply not designed to count days over extended periods of time. I had been using a Garmin watch to track my activities, and thought it would be neat to create a mobile phone application that monitors my streak using data fed from the watch. This is the core functionality that is now available to all streak runners via myRunstreak.

Early comments from users have been very encouraging, and I now want to develop the app further by adding more platforms (at the time of writing we are integrated with Polar and Suunto, in addition to Garmin) and other features. I have found the sense of community among runners to be one of the most rewarding aspects of streak running. With feedback from runners in different parts of the world, I am hopeful that we can make myRunstreak into an even more useful tool. Perhaps it can even attract new people to this fantastic form of exercise.

myRunstreak is available in “both” app stores (Apple/Google). More information can be found at www.myrunstreak.com. I am also happy to take direct questions on kristian@myrunstreak.com. Oh, and myRunstreak is completely free of charge!

Traversing the Tundra in US Cities and Metropolitan Areas
(Plus US Streak Runners Who Have Resided in Foreign Countries)
By: Steve DeBoer

Before there was Streak Runners International (SRI), there were some American daily runners who resided in foreign countries. Since those individuals have their active or retired running streaks listed using their current or most recently-known American address, here is a list of those tundra traversers and where they lived:

| | | | |
|--------------------|----------------|----------------|-------------------------------------|
| Steve DeBoer | 1978-1980 | Ecuador | First (and only) registered stalker |
| Ron Shealy | 1989-1993 | Japan | First registered stalker |
| John Faz | 1990s (3 yrs) | Iwakuni, Japan | Second registered stalker |
| Julie Maxwell | Abt 2000 | Puerto Rico | First of three registered stalkers |
| Ed Goff | Bef 2000-2006. | Germany | First registered stalker |
| Steve Moosbrugger. | 2001-2002 | Russia | First registered stalker |
| Len Burton | 2003-2004 | Nepal | First (and only) registered stalker |
| John Faz | Nov 04-Nov 05. | GTMO, Cuba | First (and only) registered stalker |

Also, Michael Dallas had a retired run streak from Aug 2006 to Dec 2007, when he lived in England.

Of course, many active streak runners have done daily runs while on vacation in foreign countries. In 2009, there was a special issue of the Streak Registry that listed mileage and best races of members, as well as number of states and countries stalkers had traversed. Fourteen of us had run in at least 10 countries with the most by John Nikolic (36), Bill Anderson (39) and Dwight Moberg (53). Then there was Ron Hill, who ran races in 100 different countries, the last two being Panama and the Faroe Islands. Even though 60 different countries are represented with registered active or retired streaks on SRI, Len Burton, John Faz and I make it 63. But streak runners have done their thing in well over 100.

Returning closer to home, as registered running streaks have increased, so have the numbers in individual cities and metropolitan areas. Starting with cities, here is how they have changed in just the last four years (includes both active and retired):

| City | Number all time Nov 2021 | Number all time Aug 2017 |
|----------------------|---------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1. NYC | 38 (4.6 per million residents) | 7 |
| 2. Portland | 31 (47.5 per million) | 14 |
| 3. Houston | 27 | 10 |
| 3. Minneapolis | 27 | 13 |
| 5. Phoenix | 25 | 13 |
| 6. Chicago | 21 | 7 |
| 6. Rochester, MN | 21 | 17 |
| 8. Dallas | 20 | 8 |
| 8. Seattle | 20 | 7 |
| 10. Indianapolis | 18 | 8 |
| 11. Cincinnati | 17 | 5 |
| 12. Austin, TX | 15 | 6 |
| 12. Denver | 15 | 7 |
| 12. St. Paul | 15 | 13 |
| 15. Atlanta | 14 | 7 |
| 15. Raleigh | 14 | 7 |
| 15. St. Louis | 14 | 6 |
| 18. Fergus Falls, MN | 13 | 11 |
| 18. Fort Worth | 13 | 10 |
| 18. Pittsburgh | 13 | 7 |

Seeing NYC on top makes sense, since it is the most populous city in the US. But there are many places that have a higher concentration of daily runners. Here is a list of those with at least five streakers and at least 8,000 residents now and 2 1/2 years ago. Fergus Falls remains #1, despite having the coldest climate of those listed. It helps that six of their 13 are in one family - Mike & Beth Thorson and their four children. If you add in Mike's brother-in-law, who lives in St. Paul, they have the most run streakers of any family in the world - seven!

| City | Nov 2021 (rate per million residents) | May 2019 |
|------------------------|--|-----------------|
| 1. Fergus Falls, MN | 950 (13) | 751 (11) |
| 2. Signal Mountain, TN | 571 (5) | 571 (5) |
| 3. Williamsburg, VA | 404 (6) | 400 (6) |
| 4. Katy, TX | 263 (7) | 305 (6) |
| 5. Suwanee, GA | 240 (5) | 51 (1) |
| 6. Naples, FL | 229 (5) | 136 (3) |
| 7. Littleton, CO | 208 (10) | 146 (8) |
| 8. Decatur, GA | 194 (6) | 208 (6) |
| 9. Richfield, MN | 188 (7) | 139 (5) |
| 10. Laramie, WY | 182 (6) | 156 (5) |
| 11. Rochester, MN* | 171 (21) | 164 (19) |
| 12. Huntsville, TX | 142 (6) | 146 (6) |
| 13. Midland, MI | 120 (5) | 75 (3) |
| 14. St. Louis Park, MN | 104 (5) | 53 (2) |
| 15. Chapel Hill, NC | 97 (6) | 49 (3) |
| 16. Bloomington, MN | 95 (8) | 70 (6) |

| | | |
|---------------------|----------|---------|
| 17. Greenville, SC | 94 (7) | 55 (4) |
| 18. Roanoke, VA | 90 (9) | 70 (7) |
| 19. Ocala, FL | 81 (5) | 85 (5) |
| 20. Cheyenne, WY | 77 (5) | 78 (5) |
| 21. Lafayette, IN | 70.7 (5) | 28 (2) |
| 22. Wilmington, DE | 70.5 (5) | 71 (5) |
| 23. Bethlehem, PA | 65.8 (5) | 40 (3) |
| 24. Woodbury, MN | 65.7 (5) | 55 (4) |
| 25. Minneapolis, MN | 62 (27) | 46 (20) |

* Rochester has the highest concentration of daily runners of any city in the world with at least 50,000 residents.

MN, despite having the coldest climate, has the highest number of cities in the top 25 percentage-wise of any state (seven). No other state has more than two.

There are several communities under 8,000 population that have 3 streak runners, often related. The Wallaces (John, John Jr & Karen) have lived in Ishpeming, MI, so the rate there is 463 per million. The Roemers (John II, John III, and Mary) have lived in Parkton, MD, a rate of 457 per million. The Schultz trio (Susan, Zoe & Caitlin) have lived in Timonium, MD, with their rate being 403 per million. There are 3 runners who reside in Menominee, MI, which works out to 349 per million. One other town with 3 that exceeds 300 is Columbia City, IN, where the Eshlemans (Eliza, Peter and Peter Jr.) have lived. And I cannot neglect to mention that if we put Mendham Township and Mendham Borough (NJ) together, there are 4 run streakers (369 per million), led by SRI/USRSA President Mark Washburne.

When tabulating those who run daily in larger cities, they are often part of a larger metropolitan statistical area (MSA), so I am also including numbers for those, mainly combined statistical areas (CSAs), which are larger than the MSAs. Here are the top 25 by numbers and by percentage. The six metro areas with the most daily runners account for 26% of all US streakers (930 of 3575 persons). New York has added 166 persons in the last four years; Boston has added 98, DC is up by 93, and Minneapolis-St. Paul increased by 90!

| TOP Streak Runner CSAs/MSAs (number | 11/21 | 5/19 | 8/17 |
|---|--------------|-------------|-------------|
| 1. New York (includes parts of PA, CT & NJ) | 247 | 144 | 81 |
| 2. Minneapolis-St. Paul (includes part of WI) | 181 | 133 | 91 |
| Boston (includes parts of NH, RI & CT) | 155 | 101 | 57 |
| Washington DC (includes parts of MD, VA, WV) | 153 | 103 | 60 |
| Los Angeles | 104 | 66 | 48 |

| Austin-Round Rock | 36 | 27 | 9 |
| 25. Miami | 35 | 20 | 14 |
| Tampa/St. Petersburg | 35 | 17 | 12 |

Other CSAs/MSAs with 30 or more are Harrisburg, PA (31), and Orlando (30).

Even though the NYC area has the most people who have run daily for at least one year, their rate is only 10.4 per million residents due to their large population (23.6 million, six times as many as the Twin Cities). Here are top 25 CSAs/MSAs percentage-wise with a population of 250,000 or more.

Streak running seems to be very beneficial for remaining above the ground. Of the 3575 individuals with an active or retired streak in the US, only 20 of us are no longer living, which is a death rate of 5.6 per thousand or 0.56%. However, many of these individuals are younger and have only recently become run streakers. If we count only those who had run daily ten years ago, the total retired and active was 410 persons. Nineteen of those are now deceased, or a rate of 46 per thousand or 4.6%.

Here is a listing of those that I am aware of, four of whom passed away this year:

| | | |
|--------------------|----------------|--|
| Allen Kayner * | MI | 11 Jan 1939 – 26 Sep 2001, age 62 (1976-2000) |

*Streak not registered

As I prepared to conclude this article and send it off for publication in the Streak Registry, I received an email telling me Dallas Robertson of Iowa City, IA, had passed away at age 65 on October 24th after suffering a massive heart attack. Though Dallas was not a streak runner, he ran mega miles 360 days or more almost every year since 1976.

I contacted him after reading about his high mileage on Amby Burfoot's 100K Lifetime Miles website over a decade ago. He began running regularly while in the Navy from 1975-1979. He started tracking his running in 1980. For 37 years, he ran at least 5200 miles (highest being 7511 in 2016) except 2005, when he was injured (4537 miles that year because of knee surgery). He estimated running 20,000-25,000 miles before starting to record his distance and agreed when I suggested using 20,000. At the end of 2020, he is listed 3rd on the "70,000 Mile Club," with 251,183 lifetime miles. His son, Travis, plans to forward his 2021 mileage in the near future.

I got to meet Dallas and his wife, Carole, several years ago while traveling in Iowa. He showed me some of his grandma's wall calendars used to track his mileage. In 2009, he wrote that he had only driven to work two times since 1975, running the rest of the time, often putting in extra miles after work. His best time for a marathon was Las Vegas in 1987, when he ran 2:21:59. Other personal bests were 14:53 (5K), 29:53 (10K), and 1:09:16 (1/2 Marathon).

Historical analysis of the Boston Marathon and the Berlin Marathon by Roger A. Urbancsik

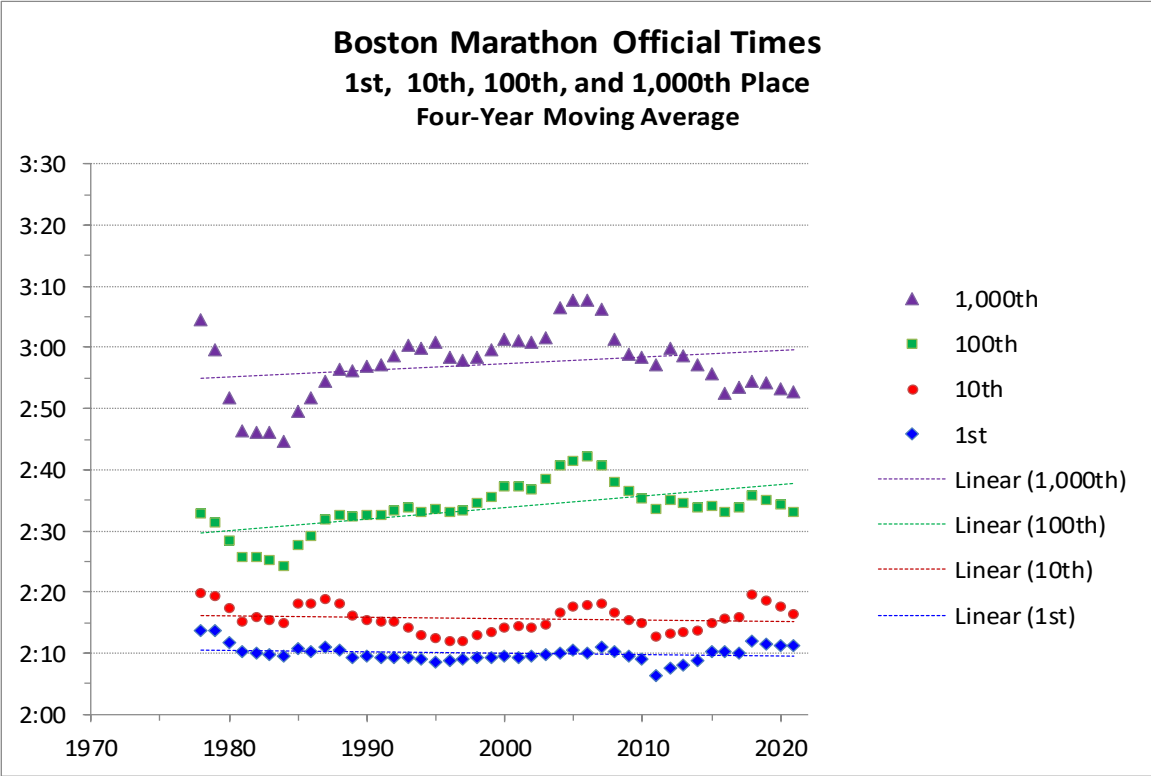

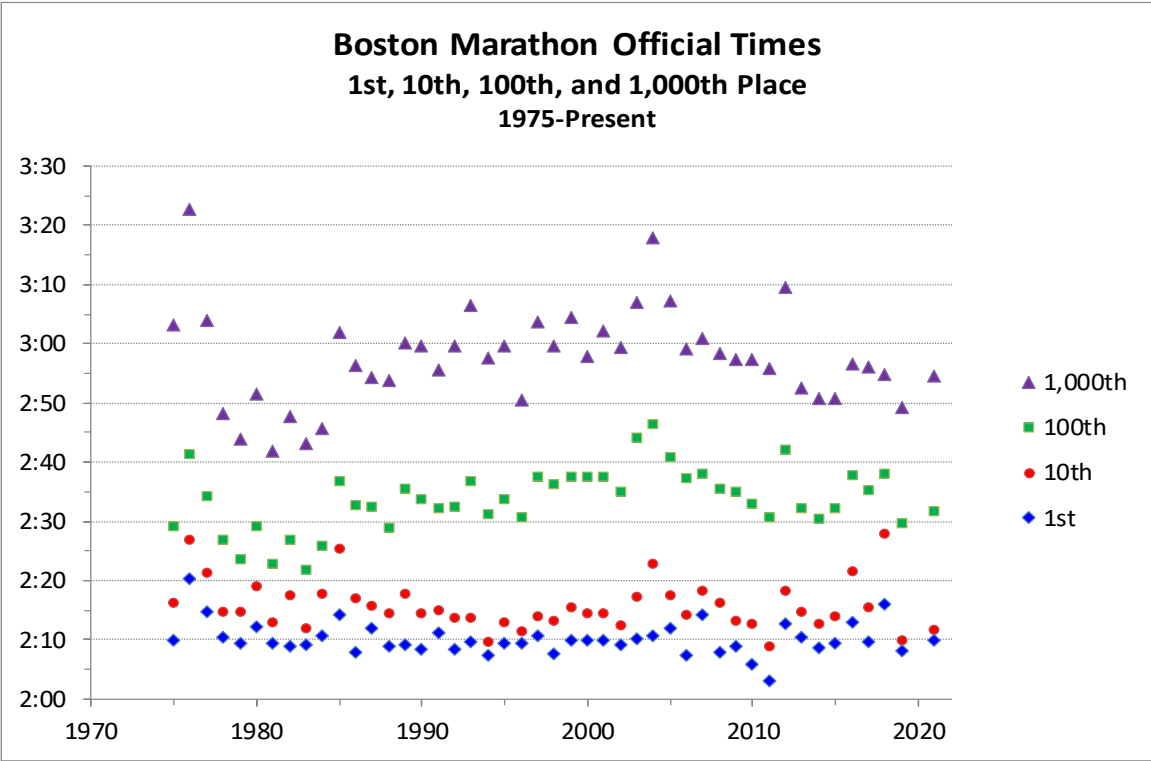

The following analysis is divided into three sections, the first of which depicts the Official Times of the 1st, 10th, 100th, and 1,000th place finishers (overall and women) in the Boston Marathon since 1975. Note that with the exception of elite runners, chip times have been used as Official Times since 2006. And note that over the past 46 years, the 1st and 10th place OA finishers have improved one-to-two minutes, but the 100th and 1,000th place OA finishers have slowed four-to-six minutes--despite advances in training, nutrition, clothing, shoes, equipment, and technology, easier qualifying times, and a huge increase in the number of runners.

But the tide is turning: Running shoes designed with carbon fiber plates that propel a runner forward have enabled faster times. At the 2018 Boston Marathon, despite heavy rain, gusting wind, and temperatures in the low-40s—weather that contributed to 60% (24/40) of the elite runners dropping out, including 8 of the Top 9 male qualifiers (all KEN/ETH)—the 1,000th place finisher ran 2:54:42. By comparison, the 1,000th place finisher ran 2:56:29 in the 2016 race (amid sunny skies and temps in mid-60s), and 2:56:08 in the 2017 race (with sunny skies and temps in low-70s). And at the 2019 Boston Marathon, the 1,000th place finisher's time (2:49:06) was the fastest since 1984 (2:45:32)!

The second section compares winning times (overall and women) of the Boston Marathon and Berlin Marathon since 1984. Prize money has been awarded at the Boston Marathon since 1986, and at the Berlin Marathon since 1992. Note that the Boston Marathon is ineligible for world record consideration due to its large start-finish separation as well as its 3.1 m/km average descent.

The third section includes charts of the Top Ten finishers (overall and women) of the Boston Marathon since 1975 and the Berlin Marathon since 1981. These charts were designed to assess whether prize money influences the elite marathon field. Each finisher's citizenship is noted, and the respective International Olympic Committee (IOC) Country Codes are color-coded by continent.

The impact of prize money is remarkable: From 1975-85, USA men garnered 63.6% (21/33) of the Top Three places, but over the past 35 Boston Marathons, they've claimed only 4.8% (5/105) of the podium finishes. And, similarly, USA women claimed 66.7% (22/33) of the Top Three places from 1975-85, but reached the podiums only ten times (9.5%) since 1986. Moreover, these "sea change" charts show that the North American runners who formerly dominated the Top Ten finishers at the Boston Marathon, as well as the European runners who previously prevailed in the Berlin Marathon, have been supplanted by African runners.

*A four-year moving average smooths the data and minimizes the impact from the strength of the field during U.S. Olympic Marathon Trial qualifications.

Since 2006, the 1,000th place finisher has benefitted from the use of chip times as Official Times.

Aina Lindgren

AINA LINDGREN JOINS SRI FROM SWEDEN

500 DAYS OF RUNNING! I guess I'm a late bloomer, started running at 46. In the summer of 2017 I got my first running watch and I started to keep track on my progress. This year the rain, cold and snow didn't stop me so I kept on running during winter.

In spring 2018, I joined Team MoTo and started training with wonderful coaches and friends.

I ran my first half-marathon in Stockholm 2019 and after that I joined several 10K-21K races, both regular ones and virtual races during corona.

In April 2020, I started my ongoing runstreak (500 days in September) and now the running has grown to a lifestyle. 2021 I started running longer distances and now I'm heading for my first Stockholm marathon in October. My goal is to accomplish 42K before my 50th birthday!

AMY BAYLISS' STREAK HITS 3 YEARS

Yes, I am still successfully keeping up my running streak!

Probably the most significant achievement this year in my streak has been keeping the streak alive while in a 2-week quarantine in New Zealand. The quarantine was very strict so you were not able to leave your room for 7 of the 14 days. The other 7 days I was able to walk outside only on either a service ramp or at a sports field. But no running was allowed outside. This was enforced by the army who observed you throughout the exercise period.

So, to keep my streak alive I ran a "L" shaped path back and forward in my room until I reached a mile or more if I was not going totally bonkers running such a short path. I will say that my first run out of quarantine when I did not have to change direction every 20 feet was heavenly!!

BRYAN NIEBANCK'S STREAK HITS 5 YEARS

During the past year of my streak I have continued to run every day, including running my fifth marathon and completing another year of running a thousand miles.

There are some days that I do not feel like going out to run, but my streak always motivates me to run no matter what.

Keep it up fellow runners, and hopefully I'll see you all at another marathon soon!

JIM MERRITT'S STREAK ENDS AFTER 7243 DAYS

Having contracted Covid-19, I was trying my best to run through it. I struggled to do the 1 mile minimum for about a week. On Friday, 8-27-2021, I ran my last mile. My last day was 7243. A very bitter pill to swallow as I was 2 months away from 20 years.

MATTHEW SAVAGE'S STREAK HITS 42 YEARS

I am in Alabama where I spend every August with my parents, who are 92 and 97 years old [email dated 31 August 2021]. The heat has been relentless in the 90's every day. Hurricane IDA decided to come this way, this week, so I am delaying my return to Michigan. My running has gone great and I ran a 7km race here Saturday.

JEMAL SWOBODA'S STREAK HITS 4 YEARS

This last year was surely the most challenging to keep the streak alive with a traumatic partial amputation of my left thumb due to a very naughty table saw in late November.

Thankfully, I had gotten in 10 miles that morning (which almost was canceled!) otherwise that would have been it for the streak. I ran some slow treadmill miles for the next month during recovery and kept alive the daily mile streak as well as my other streak of 100+ mile months, which is now at 48. Recently I got married in early August 2021 and my wife shared in her commitments that she hopes to not be the reason I break my streak! Excited to get to 5 years in 2022. Grateful for good health and excited to keep moving!

LAURA HAST INSPIRED BY RON HILL

Ron Hill inspired my 1st streak in 1999 which lasted 4,672 days & ended with a stress fracture in my foot. I vowed I'd never streak again (because it owned me) but running every day is so routine. I stopped & started a couple of times and today [30 August 2021] I'm at 2,350 days (minimum mile).

I was heartbroken when Ron ended his streak and again when he passed away this year. He will always be remembered as my inspiration & if anyone asks why I run every day I tell them about him.

There are some streakers out there with remarkable streaks & miles run. We're all crazy – streaking owns us but I can't imagine any day without my daily run to clear my head & make everything right in my world.

ROBERT FREEMAN'S STREAK ENDS AFTER 2,038 DAYS

I needed to hit the reset button. Although I enjoy running, the run streaking became a hassle with other sporting activities. I have transitioned to an activity-based streaking which includes cycling, hiking, walking, and running. Streaking taught me planning, dedication, and control.

JENNIE OSSENTJUK'S STREAK ENDS AFTER 1400 DAYS

The beginning and ending of my running streak were very different. I began October 1, 2017, with a plan to run just one week straight, and though I had heard of "running streaks" I wasn't necessarily thinking that it was something I could do, or frankly wanted to do. When I retired my streak on August 1, 2021, after 200 straight weeks; I was resolute.

Over the last few months, I had thought about ending my 3+ year running streak a LOT. I read about so many people whose streaks ended due to injury or illness, but for me that wasn't the case, though my arthritic knee had been getting worse over the years, I became pretty used to dealing with it.

Sometimes I almost wished I had a more legitimate reason to stop, but if I am being 100% honest, it came down to feeling like I "had to run" every day instead of "wanting to run."

As with most of you, my streak had become such a huge part of my identity, something I was so proud of; but as I saw my pace decreasing, my mileage suffering with too many 1-miler "streak savers," I started to feel ingenuine; whereas I used to run because I loved it whether a 1 miler or 8, lately it had felt like a chore.

As the "having to run" weighed on me heavily and created a negative feeling toward running more often than creating a "runner's high" and I realized that this was not how I wanted my life as a runner to exist and I truly missed the feeling of excitement when heading out the door coupled with the feeling of accomplishment when reaching home again.

I timed my last run to coincide with the day I was leaving for a several week trip out West where I would be busy hiking, walking, and spending time with family and friends.

It's now been 39 days since I last ran [email dated 8 September 2021], and I am almost ready to start again.

Will I ever start another streak? Probably not, but you never know. One thing I am sure of, is that if I do; it will be because I "want to" and for no other reason than that.

I am an avid cyclist, mountain biker, and cyclocross racer. I used to be into triathlons Ironman level but no longer do that. I have run 13 marathons, a 250-mile ultramarathon, and one 100-mile ultramarathon.

I decided to begin a running streak and today, 9/8/2021, will be my 70th run running straight. I average anywhere from 1 1/4 miles a day to a 10k. Obviously, if I'm training for a marathon, I will increase that mileage.

ROY QUINN'S STREAK HITS 4 YEARS

4 years of running every day! My wife says it feels like longer! This past year was not without its challenges. Some pretty serious overuse injuries led me to begin running slow barefoot miles on a trail near home to keep the streak alive.

Hello every one. I completed 7 years of run-streaking today 9-4-21, having begun on 9-4-14. I ran 7 miles to celebrate, also marking my 70th birthday 1 month ago. I've run 12,989.1 streak miles.

Although my pace is slowing down, I am looking forward to year eight and have no plans on stopping anytime soon. Thanks everyone for all the motivation you provide.

MATTHEW REINDERS' STREAK HITS 9 YEARS

Almost all of my runs these days are pushing my handicapped corgi around in a baby jogger. I did recently complete my first 20 miler pushing a corgi. I've found you get a lot of interesting looks pushing a dog around and sometimes I have to stop to let her get petted.

I really don't race much anymore. I used to run in the team circuit here in Minnesota, but now I'm much too slow for that. I did run my first trail ultras the past couple of years. I ran a 50k two summers ago and a 50-miler last fall. I don't know that I'll do much more of that because I found the 50-miler to be painfully boring. I did like training for it though, which seems a bit backwards.

That's about all I can think of to report. I do enjoy reading about all the other streak runners and seeing all the detailed statistics. Must be a runner thing.

I've been a competitive middle-distance runner since high school and still have a deep passion for the sport. I found success as a track miler my senior year of high school, but since then, numerous injuries and setbacks have prevented me from improving over the years. I have quit and came back a handful of times since college. As I approach my 30s, I've realized I truly enjoy running, whether it's competitive or not.

I started the streak on September 16th, 2020 as a way to regain consistency with strength and conditioning, help manage anxiety, and give myself something to feel accomplished about. Though the first year hasn't been ideal, I'm glad to call myself an official run stalker. Still dealing with various nagging groin injuries that have prevented me from getting any real training going, but I'm thankful it's nothing serious. Correcting some imbalances with strength and mechanics will hopefully bode well for a stronger, more consistent 2nd year of streaking and a long-awaited return to competitive form.

Professionally, I am a full-time software developer specializing in the Microsoft.NET platform. I am also a big hockey fan (Go Canes!), play video games (mainly EA Sports NHL), and run a gaming Youtube channel in my free time, so I need my daily run to help break up the screen time. Looking forward to continuing the streak for many years to come!

I'm as gratified as ever to complete another year of a running streak. Not getting any faster but still showing up at ultra-marathons and completed a 100-miler, a 50-miler and a couple of others over the last year. SCOTT CARTER'S STREAK ENDS AFTER 3,076 DAYS

Sadly, I had to end my run streak at 8 years and 5 months (3076 days) because I had to have hip replacement surgery. I ran the last 4 years with off and on hip pain and I decided it was time.

I enjoyed every day of it and would not trade any of it! I've run after midnight (early AM), and up to midnight (late PM). I've run in several states, countries, cruise ships-beautiful backroads, cities - you name it!

I plan to start another streak after my recovery and look forward to every path my running takes me! God bless and good luck to everyone on their journeys!!!

MIKE BEAVEN'S STREAK HITS 3 YEARS

I am still plugging away on my run steak. Hard to believe it's been three years - many days have been a struggle but manage to get a run on every day.

It has been the most challenging this fall since I coach high school football and serve as the athletic director. My days are long so I typically run before sunrise and feel if that is the only thing I accomplish that day it's been a successful day.

The plan is to keep on trucking and no set date to end my streak. If I reach the Forrest Gump mark it will be a successful streak for me.

I have been running since around 1995 and have done 17 or 18 marathons (including Boston, which I'm proud of) and a bunch of half-marathons and other races.

I love running on the lakefront in Chicago - it's beautiful all year long! I have a runner husband, 17-year-old twin girls, and a 12-year old son. One of my daughters runs cross-country and it's special to see her enjoying running so much! They are all so supportive!

I started the streak quite by accident! The summer of 2020, I had been feeling a lot of anxiety in general and runs were not feeling fun anymore. It was challenging to get out the door, but I forced myself a few times a week. Last September, I was actually having a good stretch where I felt like running and got out every day for a week. I thought, "Why not make it 10 days?"... then "...a month?" Then.... well here I am!

Knowing that I have the streak, I just get out and don't think about it anymore, so I no longer have that anxiety about running. I don't worry about my pace right now, I just listen to my body and that's been healthy for me.

I'm training for the Chicago Marathon in October and will just try to enjoy it even though it will not be so fast.

I'm proud that I've done every run outside. I've run in extreme cold, heavy snow, aftermath of a snowstorm, rain, sleet, heat and humidity, and amazingly beautiful weather. Just knowing that weather can't stop me has done a lot for my confidence!

I've done some interesting runs in Spain and Portugal during our summer vacation. I also had one run where I fell into wet cement, jumped up, cleaned off and kept going, but my legs felt heavy that day! 🤔🤔🤔

I have no reason to stop, so guess I'll see how long I can keep it up. I'll turn 50 in December, so having the streak is a cool way to keep feeling young and strong! Everyone on here is so inspirational!

JOEL PEARSON'S STREAK HITS 27 YEARS

My son Joel Royal Pearson has promoted my running since he was very young, yet he never promotes himself, so I'm taking the initiative. On September 3, Joel completed 27 years of unmissed running days.

This all got started a little over a week earlier when older brother Hopper (who later put in a five years streak, now on the retired list) showed him a bunch of trophies he'd found in the basement. Joel was not impressed, so Hopper, wanting to impress Joel, mentioned the American 50-mile record, followed by the two Olympic Trials qualifications, and then some big races I'd won, all without impressing Joel. The last resort was "If Dad makes it to the middle of February, he will have run every day for 25 years. "I'm running with him" was the response.

When told this news that evening, I wasn't too excited, to say the least. I would run to school each weekday, teach my English classes all day, run with my track or cross-country team, and then run the long uphill trek home. I told him I would not wait around and then go back. He said he would be ready. I then said it had to be at least a mile since the run would have to be worth my making the steep trip back up Hilltop Road.

I was surprised to find him waiting and ready to run as I trotted up the driveway the next day. There were no thoughts from either of us about a running streak, but I did record his mileage. The seventh day was only 3/4 of a mile, so when the mile a day rule came into effect, he just lost a week. It didn't take long, though before he made himself a three mile a day rule. All I had to do was come up with a story starter. That was the hard part. It was usually something to do with the American Civil War or Star Trek. He could pick up instantly and weave a tale that could logically come to its conclusion as we later headed back down Hilltop.

There were times as it turned out that we did wait around. One memorable run occurred around 11 p.m. in the cold Ferndale rain when a police officer pulled us over. Joel had to do all the explaining. She thought he was being abused and gave him candy, but he refused the free ride home. Running has never been a punishment to him.

Joel is now a coach, having coached everything, from NCAA D 1 to NAIA to high school, all with great success. At the NAIA level, his runners won several national individual and relay titles, and his DMR relay team at Cardinal Stritch University set a national record. His mileage during late high school and college was around 100 miles a week. He entered six marathons and won three of them. He now runs a minimum of 5K per day since he no longer competes.

I started my run streak on 6/6/20, so today [21 September 2021] will be streak day 473. I added an additional personal criterion of myself that requires me to log that 1-mile or greater outside. During the duration of my run streak I've averaged 7.5+ miles every day.

This current daily run streak contains many official races including at least five marathons, 50k's, four 50-milers, and a 100-miler. Also have my 2nd 100-miler scheduled in 10 days (Arkansas Traveler 100 on Oct 2nd).

I'm an active member of AURA (Arkansas Ultra Running Association) and OTRC (Ozark Trail Running Club). Often recognized for a permanent smile and encouraging attitude.

SOFIA GILLE'S STREAK HITS 2 YEARS

When I started my first Runstreak on 24 December 2018, my main goal was to gain better health, and my second goal was to “become a person who runs.” I've run occasionally, but always stopped for one reason or the other. Now I wanted it to last, so I figured I'd try Runstreak to see if this would make it work. And boy did it work!!

I soon got addicted to running, and when an injury forced me to end my Runstreak after 183 days, all I could think about was how to get back into those running shoes again. I eventually started over, on 20 September 2019, and haven't quit since then.

I'm also now an ultrarunner, enjoying the long runs more and more. All thanks to the running streak!! My health is better than ever and my resting pulse is lower than ever before. Also, my asthma is much improved. As you can understand, I lack words to describe how much this running streak has meant to me, and if I'm ever having to end it again, I will be right on it as soon as possible!

The pictures are from my first day of year 3 of the running streak, when running in the mountains in the north of Sweden. Absolutely wonderful!

Hello! I'm a busy mom of two young boys and wife to an amazing woman and they keep me busier than anything else but I wouldn't have it any other way.

This streak began with a 100-mile challenge that I wanted to finish in 100 days. I thought, "A mile a day won't be so bad, surely I can do that." Something shifted during those miles, I finished my goal in 72 days and the thought of not waking up the next day planning to run just wasn't possible.

Every day I have at least 10 minutes for me, and my mental and physical health. My mileage is minimal compared to others but in comparison with myself, I am astounded at my accomplishment.

Once upon a time, I thought streakers were nuts and now I get it. I understand the commitment to yourself. Keep running streakers!!

PAUL RUSSO'S STREAK HITS 6 YEARS

I'm happy to say my streak is still going at six years today [1 October 2021], with a minimum of three miles per day, usually no more than five.

This year was especially tough because I had to run through a few injuries. In April, I fractured two ribs while playing ice hockey, which made for about five days of painful slow running. Then in May, I suffered a grade two ankle sprain, also from playing ice hockey. This resulted in three weeks of very painful slow running, but I managed to work through it against better judgement. The moral of the story is ice hockey and running streaks don't always mix.

On a more positive note, as a baseball fan and a lifelong admirer of the "Iron Man of Baseball" Lou Gehrig, in August I matched Lou's amazing consecutive game streak of 2,130, by hitting 2,130 consecutive days running. The next goal is to reach Cal Ripken at 2,632.

I'm consistently inspired by others who I see pushing themselves daily. There's a woman I often see running by the beach the same time every day. While I don't know her or if she is a stalker, I get the feeling she must be. She seems so determined and unstoppable. Then there is my ten-year old son, who as of today has done a Peloton workout every day for the last year and a half.

KAREN SANDT'S STREAK HITS 13 YEARS

Hi! I just reached my 13-year streak-anniversary. I started running when I was in college and completed my first marathon in 1998. From 1998-2008 I had several long-standing streaks, but this has been my longest.

I started my streak the day I returned home from the hospital after having my daughter. I am excited to say that she is 13 and has run a half marathon at 11 and is preparing to do her 2nd this month! She is an avid cross-country runner and I love that we can share this sport with each other.

I am working towards completing a marathon in every state and have finished 19 to date. Now my daughter is working towards a half marathon in every state! Congratulations to everyone regardless of where you are at in your running streak.....enjoy every miles!

On September 30th, 2021, I completed 2 years of my running streak. The past year had many highlights. My first ultramarathon (Pilot Mountain to Hanging Rock 50 miler), moving to Colorado and completing the Pikes Peak Ascent (a race I've been wanting to do for 10 years). I've got plenty of big goals on the horizon and I'm looking forward to hitting 1000 days and completing year 3 of my streak.

ASA SODERHIELM'S STREAK HITS 2 YEARS

Yes, my Runstreak is still "alive" and I'm glad it is, because it gives me so much energy, reduces stress - and I haven't been sick/ill for the last two years.

My daily "common" run is 4 km, and my longest run is 45 km (happened twice the last 2 years: Trail Run "Vasa Ultra 45").

The best thing (for me) about Runstreak is that it quite fast became a routine, and no bad weather (or bad excuses) would make me hesitate to go for a run.

I don't really have anything big to share...I'm not doing big things these days. Most days, it's just a quick jog around the block, but the streak keeps me in touch with the pavement and I appreciate it as a launching pad if I'm ever ready to up my game. It keeps me accountable and gives me a baseline fitness level that I wouldn't have otherwise, so the streak will continue for the foreseeable future.

I started running when I started doing triathlons at age 15. In my first year, I was national vice champion as a junior and then national champion as a junior in the second year. Since then, I have always been running. I quit racing in 2014 after being a pro for a few years. My PBs are 15:05 for 5k, 31:45 for 10k and 2:32:45 in a marathon.

On November 1st, 2020, Germany went into a national lockdown. About ten friends and I decided to go running every day in November. Well, the lockdown continued after November, so we kept on running. Four out of this group are still running every day since. Next Sunday, October 31st, I will finish my first year as a streak runner, and I am not planning on stopping anytime soon. I have also been swimming and cycling occasionally during this year, and there were days that I ran twice.

I am happy to join ranks of the Grand Master Streakers, and hopefully continue up through the ranks for many years to come.

This past year has been a busy year for me. I have run a marathon, 2 x 50ks, 2 x 50 milers, 2 x 100k, and a 100 miler. Along the way, I set PRs for 50 miles in 6 hours in 25 minutes, and for the 100-miler in 16 hours and 35 minutes. And, the year isn't done yet. I have a 24 hour and 12-hour events this month and next followed by another 100-miler in December. I am somehow wondering if I am finally finding my stride.

HEINZ KABUTZ'S STREAK HITS 3 YEARS "CoVid-19 - My Streak?"

"Will I be able to run through it?" - the first thought as the world shut down with the worst pandemic in recent history. A back spasm cut short my first streak after almost 2 years of running every day. Would this virus stop me again?

Like everyone in this group, I had run through injuries and fevers. Would this time be different? Every time the runeveryday.com bulletin came out, I scoured the stories looking for clues of runners who had kept their streak alive despite contracting CoVid-19. Unlike some of my fellow streak runners, I never set a goal of running for one year. Instead, once I started in 2016, I wanted to continue running for as long as I'm alive. No matter what I weigh or whether I feel like it or not, the #runeveryday is the one constant in my life.

My second streak has now passed the third year, of which half was during the CoVid-19 pandemic. Fortunately, up to now I have managed to avoid contracting the virus. Our lives are more important than the streak, and I keep promising myself that if I do get sick, despite all my efforts with masking and vaccination to avoid it, I will put my long-term life above the streak. Let's see if I will be able to resist the temptation to preserve my streak no matter what. I hope not :-)

I have today [27 October 2021] been running every single day for the last 2 years and I am so glad I started this. It was at first a challenge. It was afterwards a real help in the lock-down Covid-time and then it was my sanity moment when job was nightmare. So, this is now a part of my life and I don't intend to stop soon.

I run minimum 3 kms a day. I have been running in Germany for one year and now one year in Austria, but also in France, Belgium, Swiss, Italy during vacations. It is a very nice way to discover new places.

Michael Schlater, Sr.

MICHAEL SCHLATER'S STREAK HITS 20 YEARS

September 12 marked the 20-year streak anniversary for Michael Schlater Sr.

He vividly remembers that the last day he did not run at least 5km per day coincided with the tragic 9/11/2001 date.

Specifically, the events that occurred on that day caused Michael to remain at his workplace long into the evening and early into the next morning, thus causing the missed day.

“Running was the last thing on my mind that day as so many other priorities needed to be addressed. In retrospect, I am absolutely certain that I walked at least 4 miles that day throughout my manufacturing plant to assure that everything moved along during the uncertainty; but, of course, none of those miles counted as running.”

Before 9/11/2001, Michael had a streak of 3 years without missing a day, and had only missed 6 other days during the previous 16 years.

“The events of 9/11 inspired me to assure that I run every morning before doing any other activity. Since then, I awake by 4:45am and I hit the road no later than 5am.”

“I can count on one hand the number of times that I have not run in the morning over the past 20 years and I have run nearly twice per day every day since 2010.”

On the day of the 20th anniversary Michael had accumulated 54,518 streak miles since 2001 out of the 96,146 career miles that he began recording in February, 1981.

“God willing, my next big milestone will be reaching 100,000 miles, which I hope to achieve almost exactly 1 year from now, assuming that I can maintain my current daily rate, which I have now maintained for over 2 years.”

Michael has been a cross-country and distance running coach at Saint Joseph Academy in Brownsville, TX since 2008. He attributes much of the success to maintain his streak to the privilege of interacting and participating in such a great environment.

“I really have an ideal situation here by being able to share my passion for running with outstanding fellow coaches and, most importantly, the dedicated student athletes.”

Michael’s current cross-country team along with some of their parents and fellow coaches celebrated his anniversary with a dinner at a local restaurant in anticipation of a meet scheduled for the following day.

“I am so grateful for their unwavering motivation and support of my running efforts, but what is truly exciting to me now is being able to actively contribute to what should be a historic season for our Saint Joseph Academy High School athletes.”

Michael Schlater
Brownsville, Texas

DAN PEREIRA'S STREAK HITS 31 YEARS

It's been an uneventful year running wise. I am running a 5K in the morning by myself and a 5K in the late evening with my wife that has still not missed a day going on three years. It's fun running with my wife. Some runs when we are both feeling spunky we bump each other, push, shove, surge and hug, those runs are fun. Of course, some of our runs are just to do the run get it done, shower and go to bed.

Neither one of us has had any injuries this year, just the normal aches and pains but that's it. We change shoes about every three months. I am favoring the Sketchers brand for their cushion but the lateral support for trail running is poor. I am careful on the trails not to push them in the corners or on uneven ground.

We are enjoying life and our running is a big part of it, so one day at a time I will work toward year 32. Oh, one thing. My mom is 88 years old and is now walking instead of running. She fell three times on her last run (was sore only thank goodness). She took a month or so off then made a new walking route, "great old mom."

Well that's all I have for now. To you runners out there, "keep your shoes fresh and legs moving." You never know what a run will bring.

TONY DIGREZIA'S STREAK HITS 2 YEARS

Well it's been 2 years and as you all know there have been a lot of ups and downs, good days and bad days. This is my second streak, the first one ended at day 217, a few months before the current one when I tore my hamstring at the Spartan Ultra Beast.

How long will this streak last? I guess until I can't run. I've run through some pretty bad circumstances (strained lower back where I had to slid out of bed, foot pain, covid, knee pain, snow storms, nor'easters, etc. Oh, by the way, every single mile has been outside - not one treadmill mile.

At the start of this year I had a goal of 1k miles. Well, that went out the window since I have been dealing with foot pain since March (day 490ish). Some days it's not too bad but some days I'm limping.

I will say being part of this group keeps me going to see some of you at 5 years, 10 years, 20 years..... is pretty awesome. I can't imagine how you get to 10+ years but we will see.

KATHLEEN SELMER'S STREAK ENDS AFTER 2,961 DAYS

Yesterday [11 November 2021], I got in 1.6 miles on a frosty morning before surgery. With much sadness and disappointment, I end my streak of 8 years, 1 month, and 8 days today.

I have a bruised bone in my forearm (will heal over time), a torn bicep muscle (repaired), a broken piece of humerus bone put back in place, but it was too thin to use a screw so they wrapped some tissue (or something) over it, a fracture of the humeral neck (will mend itself), and some other fracture higher up. This last issue is what was causing my previous pain that we thought was the rotator cuff, which ended up being fine. I won't be able to run for at least 8 weeks.

My sweet daughter has been a superstar angel and is taking excellent care of me until hubby gets back from Oregon Sunday night. I have to do everything left handed which tires me, so if I don't respond to posts much, please know I am thinking of all of you and wish you the best running experiences. JOSEPH CRANO'S STREAK HITS 6 YEARS

My running did not begin until I was 44 years old when my son and I started some father/son bonding with the goals of a church 5k and a high school 5k. The reason the streak started was my son tried a streak, and I liked the concept of a required discipline with the benefit of a healthy mental and physical daily activity.

My son has provided a strong, positive influence by his example and support throughout the streak. We provide each other motivation to keep pushing ourselves and sharing our education of the running world.

My streak miles only include outdoor miles as I am not a treadmill fan, which makes the Ohio winters of rain and ice a challenge, but toughens me up for any race condition. Neighbors have commented that I am crazy, but several dogs enjoy watching me run and wish they could join me.

Over the years, my mileage has increased with running over 2,400 miles during 2020. During 2020, I tested positive for COVID-19 and experienced fatigue, but used running as an outlet and ended up leading a local running club in miles during the two weeks of my quarantine.

My running races are mostly half marathons, but I have been doing one or two full marathons annually. 2021 included the Chicago Marathon, six half marathons and one 5k with PRs in the half marathon and 5k.

I have been fortunate to receive tremendous race day support from my son and his wife and enjoy the running community's positive encouragement at races. My wife has commented as a father and son competing at races, it has to be unusual that we are both competitive.

Going into races, I know my finishing place will almost always be one spot lower due to my son in the same race. My son's recent marriage has created a three- person family participation at several events. At a 5k race at Kent State, my son won top male alumni, his wife top female alumni, with me winning my age group.

Races also give me an opportunity to keep a competitive drive of always trying to improve myself and benchmark myself against others and past performance.

One of the most rewarding experiences was finishing the 2021 Chicago marathon as my son and I crossed the finish line together after both struggling with the heat. My bucket list includes running the Boston and New York marathons.

KRISHNA KUMAR'S STREAK HITS 4 YEARS

Yes, it's been 4 years.

Though I have been running regularly since 2006. (that year did my first HM and 1st Full Marathon, the unforgettable Chicago Marathon), my streak journey (which is run every day with a minimum of 1.6Km aka 1 mile) started Nov 15 2017 with no awareness that it will be what it is today.

The target I had broadly that day was to run every day for rest of Nov. And then that might as well continue all Dec. And then on and on. Never in my wildest dreams did I imagine a 1 year streak let aside anything more.

These 4 years has been an amazing journey with so many highs (and a few lows), learnings, new people in different parts of the world, etc. Overall covered 23886Km in this 1461 days (4 year) journey with a 14 FMs, 155 HalfMs and 1411 10Ks.

Some highlights include:

A 12-hour 84K run.

A 100K charity run spanning 2 days.

A 50K run to celebrate my 50th.

A 10 Day HalfM streak (Apr 26 2019 to May 5 2019).

A 250 Day 10K streak (Mar 8 2021 to Nov 12 2021).

Ran in the trails, roads, mountains, beaches, forests, airports, hospitals, office parks.

Ran in the rain, snow, and in all weather.

Ran with bestest of friends, and stragnest of strangers.

Ran with kids, professional runners, different running groups.

Ran solo with the widest variety of thoughts, Joys/Sorrows/Stresses through sickness and in the pink of health.

And yet, after all these years, it seems to me that have just began this beautiful journey.

The toughest run in these 4 years, though was the day before the 4-year streak day, Nov 13 2021. My beloved father Passed away in the wee hours of the morning that day. It took all my will to head out and run. And yes, did so and ran a quiet 2.3K with a heavy heart grieving for the loss of my father. Now can very much relate to the emotions of the runners here who run on days of deep grief. Needless to say, running late in the night after a momentous day, did help.

On the 4-year streak day, did a quiet 7.5K, thinking about my father and also the journey so far.

Hope to continue on and on and hopefully will never taking running for granted and always remember that its a privilege that we all have. Ending with the quote of mine: *Running is the Answer *

GABY COHEN'S STREAK HITS 29 YEARS

My 29-year running streak anniversary was November 10th, and I don't have much to report, except that I continue my streak.

The pandemic shut down most of the races I usually run, but I am pleased that one of them, The Clam Beach Run, in Trinidad, California will be up and running on a modified basis, so I will be able to participate in that, and hopefully more races this year.

Like most of us, I have run through injuries, sickness, severe temperatures, both hot and cold, but the most unusual thing I have ever done, is run the day I gave birth, and every day after, as well. Cheers,

CHAD SHILSON'S STREAK HITS 11 YEARS

I'm excited to have completed 11 years today, November 13th, 2021. My streak has gone by quick but during those days, has covered a lot of ground, all over the world.

A marathon or ultra in every state, marathons in foreign countries, miles upon miles in international airports, all while accumulating more than 54 million steps.

In January of 2019, I was diagnosed with a Pulmonary Embolism (blood clot) that luckily went from my left leg, through both chambers of my heart and into to periphery of my left lung. Considering the statistics surrounding blood clots, I'm grateful to be able to write this update today.

Coincidentally it was a marathon, sandwiched by some travel via cars and planes where sitting for long durations occurred, that was the cause. The absolute worst pain I've ever felt, preceded by the feeling you get prior to coming down with the flu. The irony of the event is that traveling to and running my 50th marathon state caused the clot but my strong cardio from all of the years running is said to be what moved that clot right through my heart and into the safety zone, where it quickly was absorbed back into my body.

So, when you hear people say that their streaks are so personal, mean so much and are imbedded in the fibers that only the individual will ever feel, that's me. Grateful for every step, every arm swing and every breath.

Congrats to all streakers: man, woman and child.

Happy running,

DIANE PETERSON'S STREAK HITS 4 YEARS

I started my streak when someone posted a Runner's World Holiday Streak in a Facebook group I follow (and I'm a member of the running club). That was to be Thanksgiving 2017 to New Years, 2018. I started several days before Thanksgiving (11/21/2017) and made it to the new year easily enough so then I thought, why not try for a 1-year streak?

That 1 year has now hit 4 years. I was surprised to receive the email from USRSA this morning that I have reached the 4-year mark. I actually hit day #1460 yesterday (11/19/2021). I was thinking of 4 years from the date, so 11/21/2021 would be my 4th year anniversary. In that time, I have run a total of 7347.81 miles (5.03 miles per day average).

The hardest days were when I was traveling (driving) from Oregon to Wisconsin (and back again) in the summers. We usually drive for 12 - 15 hours a day. As soon as we'd check into a hotel for the night, I would take my dog for my requisite, minimum 1-mile run (often a bit more).

Another difficult time were the days following the Revel Mt. Hood Marathon that I did in 2019. Needless to say, my quads were trashed. Adding insult to injury, we were on the road to WI the next day! Getting out of the car at every stop was extremely difficult - especially when the dog was ready to move and I was struggling to do so. But I still managed my 1 mile that evening and the next several days, just at a very slow pace (but NOT walking!).

I recently ran the New York City Marathon (4:17:28) and also managed a bit over a mile the next day, then gradually added distance each day. My only soreness after NYCM was in the right psoas muscle the day after (nothing since). I turned 68 years old 2 days before NYCM, so I'm happy my body is holding up so well and I hope it continues to do so for a few more decades.

Still going strong. Just had a new baby in 2020. Barely cut my streak had 20 minutes before my streak was over my son was born at 11:40. So I did a Victory lap around the hospital. It's been hard, it's been complicated, it's been fun, it's been exhilarating.

HEATHER HYSELL'S STREAK HITS 4 YEARS

I am so excited that I have made it to four years!!! Running has allowed me to be healthier physically and emotionally. To celebrate my runniversary a few friends and I met early on a Saturday morning and ran to go eat breakfast. I value the friendships that I have made along this journey and plan to continue running as long as I am able.

LIZ HENNING'S STREAK HITS 2 YEARS

Today [20 November 2021] I hit 2 years of my run streak! In November of 2019 while in the Dominican Republic I met a fellow runner who told me about her run streak. I got home and promptly joined a Facebook group of "streakers." The idea is you run at least 1 mile (1.6k) every day.

I decided I would join the group of people committing to run 40 days from late November to December 31st 2019. I figured it would be a good challenge to get me through the darkest time of what had been a really tough year.

I woke up January 1st 2020 excited and optimistic for the year to come (oh hindsight), I promptly went for a run and now I was at 41 days, I couldn't end on a random number so I went for 50. Then I thought if I just run 50 more days, I'll hit 100 days, this would mean committing to run a one mile a day while on an early February 2020 dive trip to Aruba but 100 days was such a great achievement so why not.

I believe I hit 100 days on February 29th, a habit was formed I kept going, I had no idea that in just 13 days the world would shut down and I would be thrown in to challenges that made 2019 look like a walk in the park.

Running became my stress relief, I ran harder, I ran longer. Between April 2020 and June 2021, I ran 200 km every month with the exception of December when I only did 150k.

I believe everything happens for a reason. I believe this running streak has been a gift that God knew I would need to get me through the pandemic stress. It's been one of many tools I've used to keep my sanity and joy.

I've had my ups and downs the past two years but running has helped get me through one day at a time.

RSD#1461 4 years!

As a 74-year old guy, it has been a tough couple of weeks with flu and Covid booster shots followed by a severe cold and flu like symptoms! That was the excuse for dropping below 20 miles a week and last week included TWO streak saver 1 mile days and one of those days it was the only time I was out of bed!

Looking forward to our local Turkey Trot 10k this week (where my streak started in 2017) even though I might shuffle in after the awards and donuts are distributed!

BONNIE DYE'S STREAK HITS 4 YEARS

Excited to celebrate 4 years of streaking with 4 miles! As of today's [22 November 2021] rainy Monday run, I have run 4 years and one day. That's 1462 days of running (per my spreadsheet) and a total of 4536.85 streaking miles.

The big milestone for me this year was to celebrate my Forrest Gump Day (3 years, 2 months and 14 days) with a run in a Bubba Gump hat and beard in February.

Looking forward to continue my run streak as I continue to be inspired by my fellow streakers.

Amy Harris Tan

AMY HARRIS TAN JOINS USRSA

My name is Amy Harris Tan. I am 50 years old, a mother of 5, and serve as an instructional dean at Houston Community College.

I was born with a heart condition which was corrected with open heart surgery when I was 2. Luckily, I was never restricted in my activity, and my parents encouraged me to play lots of sports when I was young.

I was a soccer player in high school and ran to keep in shape. I was not really into running more than a couple of miles, but when I went to college, I no longer had soccer, so I started running 3 miles a few times a week.

After I had kids, I'd run to get back into shape. I was mostly running 3 or 4 miles, sometimes pushing the baby jogger.

About 10 years ago, a friend talked me into a 5-mile race, and that was the beginning of my racing career. As it happens, 5 miles became a half marathon became a full became a 30k.

I like to run 5ks with friends and family and to support charities. I would do a few live races each year, and then I decided to join a virtual running club. At first, I thought it was kind of silly. It felt like I was paying to run, and really, I could run on my own anytime for free.

I'm a big Harry Potter fan, and the Potterhead Running Club drew me in. I had been a member for a couple of years when the pandemic happened, and I discovered a race game they play that required 15 straight days of running.

I never believed that I could run every day. I thought 3-4 miles a few days a week was max, except when I was seriously training for a half or full marathon, and then I would run 6 days a week, which I thought was torture. I signed up for that race, which began on April 30, 2020. I have been streaking ever since.

Because of the HP virtual race, I signed up for the Great Virtual Race Across Tennessee, and then the Circumpolar Race Around the World with a team of Houston runners. These races kept me going for over a year.

It has been an amazing journey. I am a morning runner, and it is the time of the day that belongs entirely to me. It is my time of peace and reflection. Sometimes, I take phone calls to catch up with people. Sometimes, I listen to a podcast or two. It is oddly social as I pass other regular runners, walkers, and cyclists on my bayou trail through Southwest Houston.

I have met a lot of people, and they are all wonderfully supportive as our paths cross. I run a lot by myself, but now I have a network of friends who will meet up for runs.

Today [23 November 2021] was day number 572, and I am hoping to keep the streak going for another 600.

TIM EMMETT'S STREAK HITS 5 YEARS

I started this streak as a way to stay accountable to running. I had a few friends doing it so I jumped on the bandwagon. Five years later and still going strong, it is now engrained into my daily routine and I don't plan on quitting any time soon. In the five-year streak, I've logged a total of 8,369 miles, averaging 4.5 miles a day!

Tiffany Loper and her Dad

TIFFANY LOPER'S STREAK HITS 5 YEARS

Made it to 5 years! The last couple of months have been difficult. My dad was in the hospital for a couple of weeks, so I was staying every other night in the hospital and working every day as a hospice nurse. My dad ended up going home on hospice, so I moved in with my parents to help. I've had lots of streaker keeper miles, but I managed to keep my streak.

Funny story: my dad was having moments of confusion while in the hospital and often refusing PT after a major bowel resection. At one time he told the PT, my daughter will just get me up later. His ICU nurse was standing by the bed and he said, I don't think your daughter will be able to handle you by herself. My dad glared at the nurse and said very emphatically, yes! she runs every day!

Unfortunately, my dad died from cancer on Sunday, 11/21. He was always my biggest supporter, and would do anything for me. I hope to continue running in his honor.

TANDY WILSON'S STREAK HITS 5 YEARS

My streak has hit 5 years! Like many of you I had a couple of streaks within a streak and unfortunately those stopped a few weeks ago when a case of rib cartilage inflammation made 1 mile about all I could do. My 5k streak lasted 943 days and my 5-mile streak lasted 472 days. That 5-mile streak helped me deal with much of the pandemic.

I am thrilled that I was able to keep the main streak going, including 10 days on a treadmill in quarantine in Hawaii so I could see my granddaughter.

Over my 5 years of streaking, I have run 11,335.9 miles which is an average of 6.2 miles per day. I qualified for Boston and New York marathons, ran Boston, New York and Chicago virtually in 2020 and finally got to run Boston and New York in person this Fall.

I am a Girl Scout leader with a large troop, during the pandemic when we couldn't meet in person, I used the training that I had been doing for Boston 2020 to run to 54 different houses to say a socially distant 'hi' to each of the girls. I ran 45 miles that day, my first ultra-run. Later that summer, I ran my first 50 miler as a virtual race.

Run streaking and the community of runners (both in person and virtually) have made a huge difference in my life and have helped me mentally and physically. Thank you to all of you for all of the inspiration to make me realize I can do so much more than I think I can. As a person who didn't start running until they turned 50, this run streak and the training, the races, all of it, are such an adventure. I am so happy to have found running, run streaking and all of the amazing people that I have met.

ANDREW BRADT'S STREAK HITS 10 YEARS

In the 90s, I remember watching Forrest Gump running across the country, thinking this is insane. He ran for 3 years 2 months and 14 days and then one day, he just stopped. Movie dramatic fiction only right?!

Well, today I hit more than 3x's that mark, 10 years straight running at least a mile every day, 3,653 days to be exact without interruption. ????? of < 500 people to ever achieve this milestone.

I've put in over 20k miles, running in 24 states and 8 countries, on beaches and up mountains. I have run with friends that became inspired to start their own streaks, my wife who is over 1700 days, my 9-year old daughter has crossed 600 & my 19 year old son has finally joined our family business with over 60 days. Hopefully, the discipline to doing something every day no matter what is rubbing off, showing that life's curveballs... with grit can be hit.

6 years into my streak I was diagnosed with a rare auto immune disease (Sarcoidosis, if your familiar with the comedian Bernie Mac who died with this disorder in 2008, but others like Beethoven and Shakespeare also battled with the disease). When I was first diagnosed by a radiologist with a chest x-Ray, it was thought to be that I had stage 4 interstitial lung disease. The inflammation level in my body was 25Xs the normal levels. I had over three dozen spots on my skin, a compromised nervous system and what looked I had been smoking for years in end. Instead of going into the rut of WHY ME or WHAT NOW, the next morning I put on my running shoes and hit the pavement even harder.

My path, my journey unbeknownst to me, was preparing my body to be ready for this fight. Luckily, through a CT scan it revealed that I didn't have fibrosis yet, and after two separate bouts of prednisone for months with a side effect of my sleep never exceeding more than two hours a night ... I broke through and won that fight nearly 3 years later. It wasn't without running through pneumonia or feeling like a zombie while traveling on literally NO sleep.

In May of this year, I had a calf strain issue with my left leg that left me having my wife and daughter putting on my socks and shoes. Yet, I still ran between 5-6mph that week. It's that notion of "one foot in front of the other." I tell my story, because it's important that we all remember the mind is stronger than the body, our network elevates our souls, and we can be inspiring others even when we think no one is looking. GET UP, GET OUT and GET to GETTING IT.

I closed out 2021 winning the Miami & Atlanta United Way 5ks, hitting 17:41 on the last surpassing my 18 year version of myself, age is only a number. I love the journey I'm on and I will wear running shoes on that path for as long as I can! Here's to the next 10, I've got a new 4 month old to help chase me to 2031 and beyond. Go get your goals, get out of the comfort zone as we don't know what our mind, body and soul is preparing us to battle. Stay blessed and safe everyone, streak on!

TARA HUMBLE'S STREAK HITS 3 YEARS

Streaking every day for 3 years on November 21, 2021!! 1,096 Days of running one mile or more, and total running miles to date is 3,929.50!!

I remember when I started the 41-day holiday streak in 2018, and I was wondering how I was going to run 41 days straight. When I started I only ran outside when it was nice out, daylight, or used the treadmill...now I have run in all elements, and time of day. I've also ran in parking lots, laps at work, laundromat, whatever works for you to get at least one mile in a day.

I have met some of the most amazing people during this streak that I call family. They are the most supportive people who have gotten me through some tough times

I've run through injury, sickness, good times, heartache, sadness, anger, frustration, and list goes on. Running is therapy, and it literally has saved my life more than once. It's been a challenge this year, but I'm still moving forward ????

PAUL STANCIL'S STREAK HITS 5 YEARS

And the streak goes on....

I completed Year Five with my run on 11/22/21 and am thrilled to still be streaking. The day before, I had completed my first in-person marathon race, the Philadelphia Marathon (I ran the full marathon distance for the first time virtually in May 2020).

The two milestones on consecutive days really resonated with me, and I was truly filled with gratitude. I'm grateful that at my age (56), I can get out and run every day, and I am so pleased that I had the opportunity to run Philly.

The crowds were just tremendous--HUGE amounts of spectators and incredibly vocal! It was a great first in-person marathon experience for me, as I finished in 3:49:57, in the top 37% of my age group. I've dealt with a bit of soreness on my two runs since Sunday's race, but nothing that's not manageable.

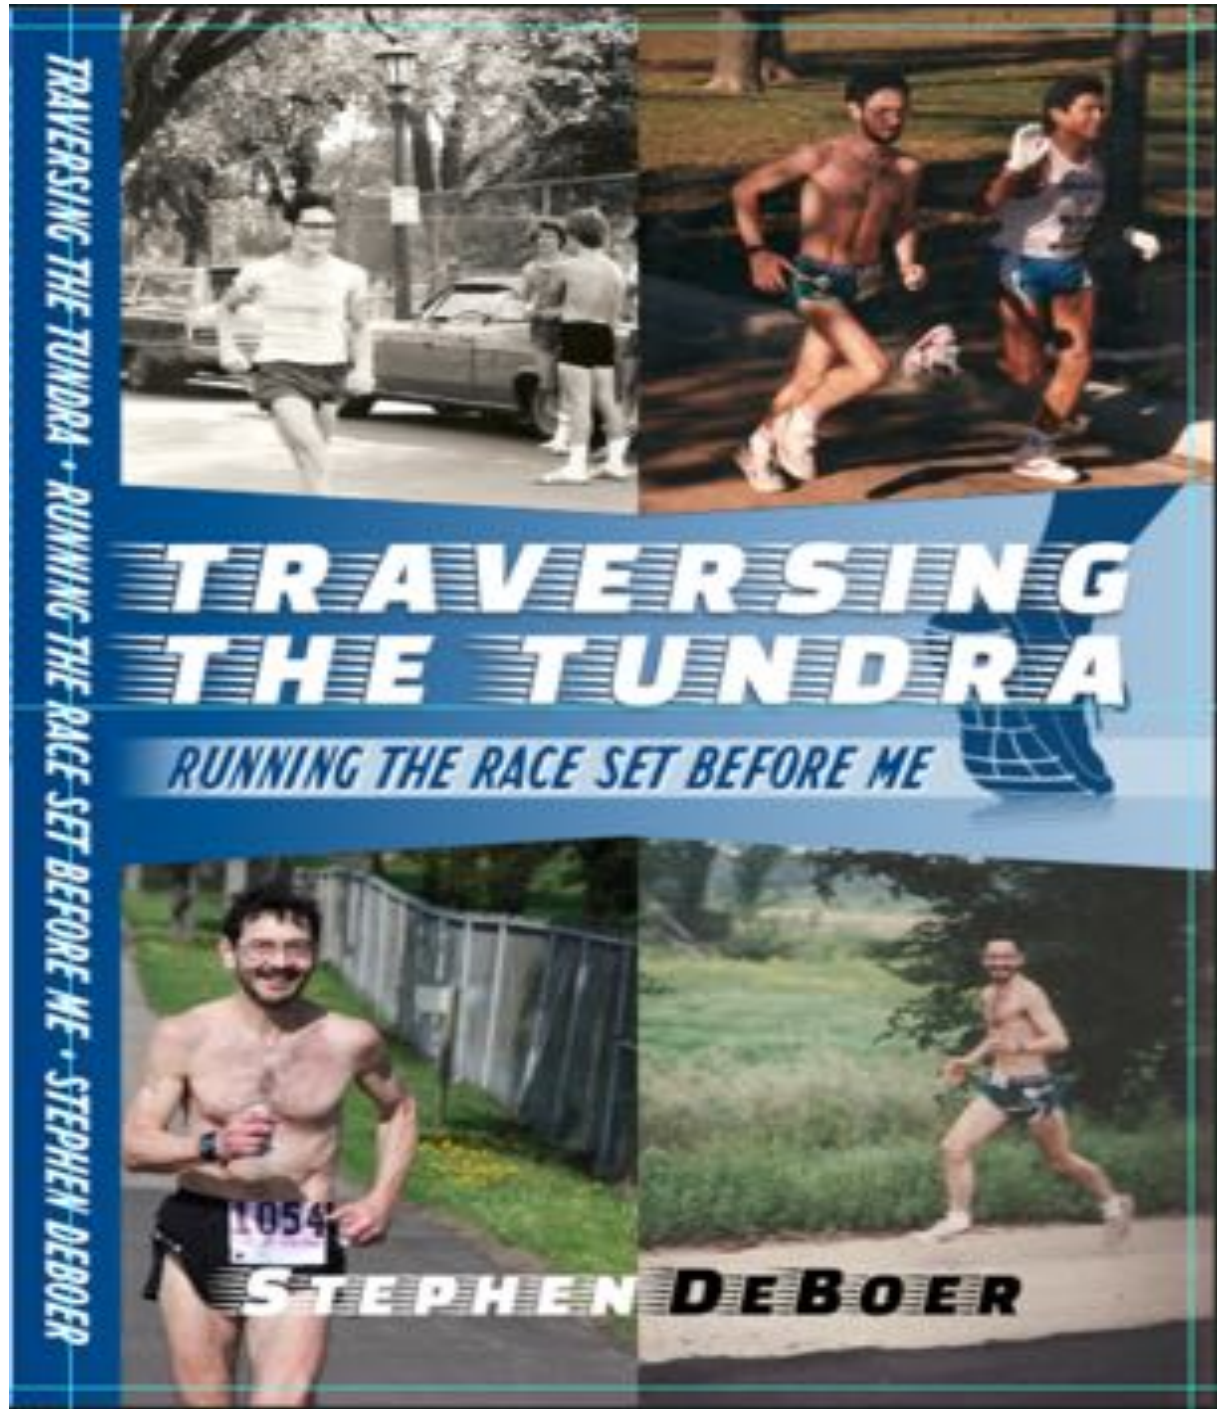

So, Year Six is off and running, so to speak. My next race is a Turkey Trot on Thanksgiving, and then I'll go into Winter mode where I ease off the miles and just enjoy the runs, especially after having just completed an 18-week training plan for Philly. My next in-person race will then be the Shamrock Half Marathon in Virginia Beach in March.

Happy Streaking!

If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And---which is more---you'll be a Man, my son!

- Rudyard Kipling (1865-1936) from his poem If.

THE FINISH LINE

By: Mark Washburne

During the last quarter, we learned the sad news that two long time streak runners, Dr. Jon Simpson and Victoria "Vicki" Leafgren, had passed. As Dr. Simpson noted himself, he was not your typical athlete you might find high up on a running streak list. "At the end of August, I will join five others in The Legend (40+ years) classification," noted the Memphis dentist in 2011. "I am honored to be included with this group; but let me be quick to say, 'I'm not even on the same page with these great runners.' I had polio at age sixteen, and have spent the rest of my life seeking ways to strengthen my weak right leg. About half my high school days I spent on crutches. If I hadn't started running, I probably wouldn't be walking today." Despite his polio, Dr. Simpson's running streak, that started on 30 August 1971, lasted 15,991 days (43 years, 285 days) and was listed by SRI as the fifth longest active running streak in the world when it ended on 10 June 2015 and now, in 2021, is listed as the 5th longest retired streak in the world. Jon Simpson was truly one of the most inspiring athletes to join our running streak association and he will be deeply missed.

The other streak runner that passed recently was Vicki Leafgren, of Woodbury, Minnesota. Vicki, who was only 62, died unexpectedly on 22 October 2021. According to her family, she ran earlier in the day and died that evening from a tear in her aortic artery while at home. Vicki only recently registered her streak with us in March 2021 but she maintained a running streak that dated back to 10 February 1991. Before her untimely passing, Vicki's streak, that lasted 11,213 Days (30.7 years), was the 5th longest active female streak in the world and now she has the 3rd longest retired female streak in the world. Vicki, who logged over 93,000 lifetime miles, also inspired us and she too will also be missed.

We did have some positive news this quarter when SRI registered it's 5,000th running streak on our website on 12 November 2021. The 5,000th streak belongs to Rachel Epplin-Rincker, a teacher from Edwardsville, Illinois. Rachel, who also became a member of our association (#2265), began her streak on Veterans Day (11 November) 2020 and just recently celebrated her one year running streak anniversary. Congratulation to Rachel and thank you to all of you who have made our running streak association a success over the years.

As for me and like many of you, I returned to in-person racing this summer. Before the shutdown, I had completed 866 races since first pinning a number to my shirt for a 10K race back in 1984. I was burnt out from over racing through the years and limited myself to only a handful of virtual races – including the 2020 Boston Marathon – during the pandemic. I was happy for the break and thought my racing days were over or would be severely limited in the future. I, therefore, decided only to dip my toe in the water when in-person racing began. Much to my surprise, however, I found I really missed being competitive and seeing my friends at races.

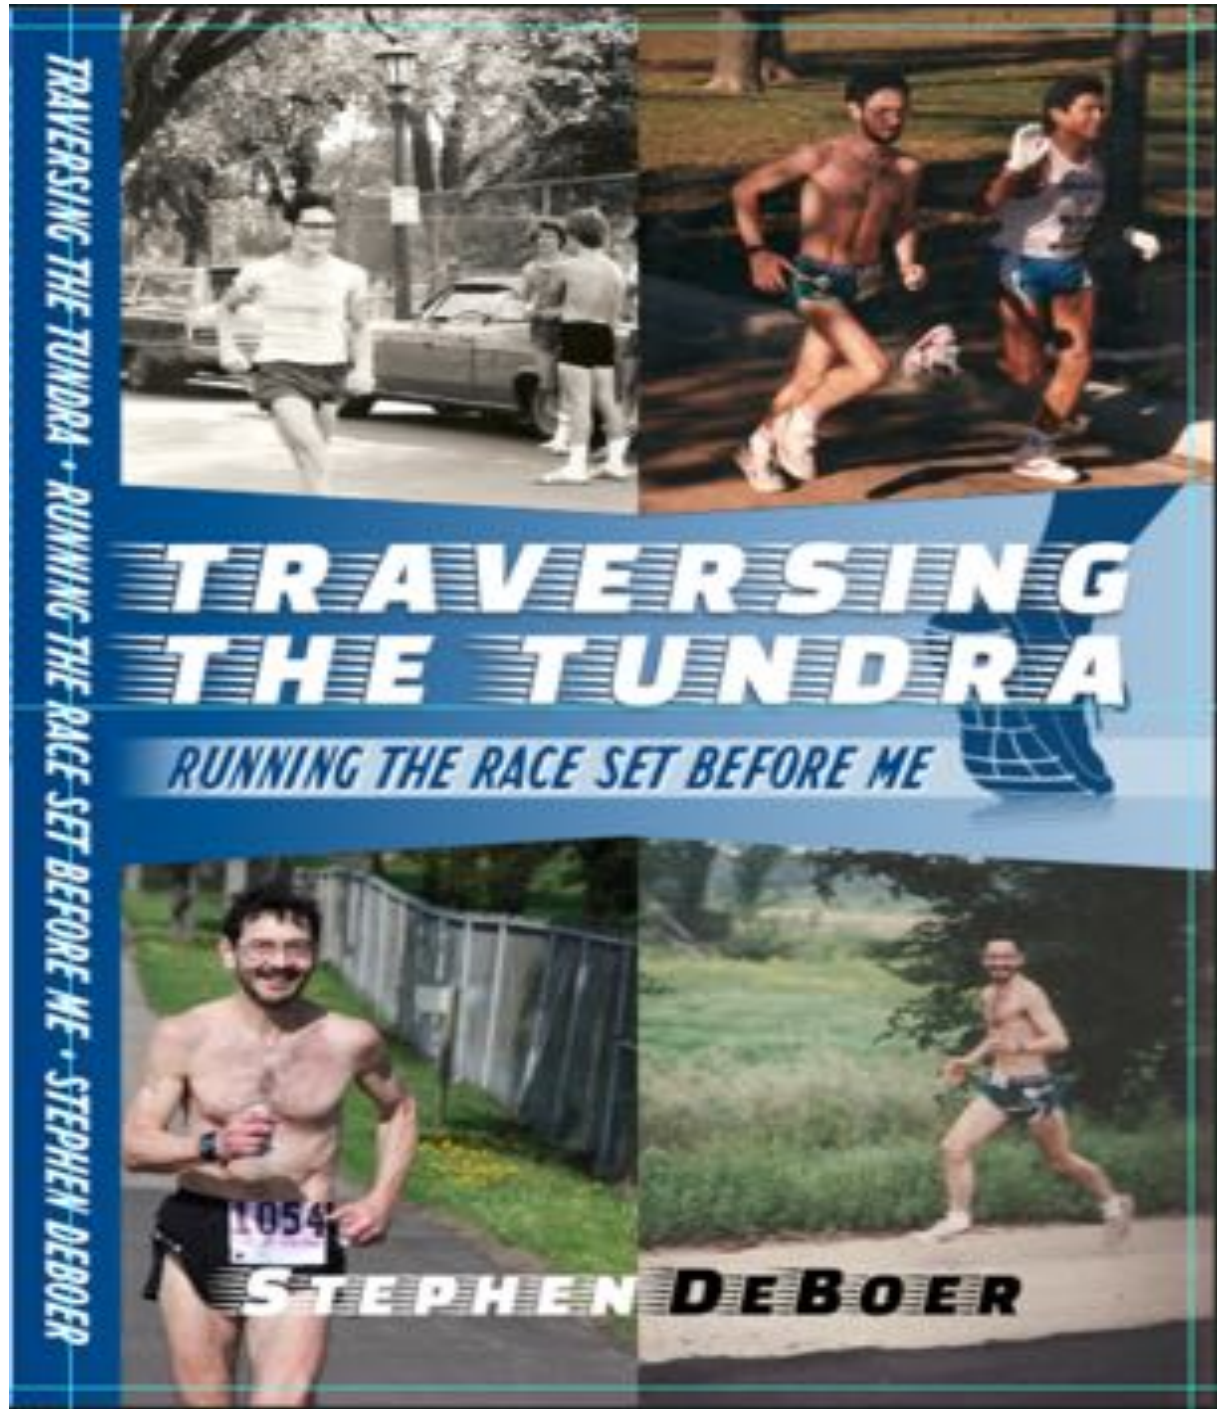

My rediscovery of my love for racing probably was helped by the fact that I moved into a new age group in March. My first race back was a 4-miler on the 4th of July, where I set a P.W. (personal worst) for the course but ended up winning my age group anyway. My times were getting slower but I ended up winning my age group 4 times out of the first 9 races since coming back.

During this stretch I also completed two full marathons. I ran the Rockaway (New York) Marathon on the 9th of October. It was a really windy day on this boardwalk course off the Atlantic Ocean and I ended up setting another P.W. I was grateful to finish, however, because Rockaway doubled as my virtual Boston Marathon and kept my Boston streak alive at 17. After setting a P.W., I was able to redeem myself a month later at the Philadelphia Marathon, where I came in 6th out of 49 competitors in my age group and qualified for 2023 Boston Marathon. I had already been accepted to the 2022 Boston Marathon so my pandemic plans of racing less will now, happily need to be revised.

As always, I wish all of you good luck as we each run the roads and trails – every day!

MEMBERSHIP—DUES

Membership in Streak Runners International and the United States Running Streak Association, Inc. is open to all interested individuals.

SRI/USRSA dues are $20.00 annually or $250.00 lifetime. Credit for one-half of all previously paid dues will be applied to the payment of lifetime dues. Once lifetime membership status is achieved, no further dues will be assessed.

A completely filled out and signed membership application must accompany the dues payment. Applications may be downloaded from our website at www.runeveryday.com, or will be mailed upon request.

STREAK CERTIFICATION

Once a running streak reaches a year in duration it is eligible for listing by SRI/USRSA. Listing of one's active or retired running streak requires a fully completed and signed streak certification form, which may also be downloaded from the SRI/USRSA site or mailed upon request. Although membership is not a requirement for listing, the SRI/USRSA appreciates all contributions to its cause.
